Applicant
HALL, Alethea, Rosalind, Melanie

1. The applicant is hereby notified that this International Preliminary Examining Authority transmits herewith the international preliminary examination report and its annexes, if any, established on the international application.
2. A copy of the report and its annexes, if any, is being transmitted to the International Bureau for communication to all the elected Offices.
3. Where required by any of the elected Offices, the International Bureau will prepare an English translation of the report (but not of any annexes) and will transmit such translation to those Offices.

4. REMINDER

The applicant must enter the national phase before each elected Office by performing certain acts (filing translations and paying national fees) within 30 months from the priority date (or later in some Offices) (Article 39(1)) (see also the reminder sent by the International Bureau with Form PCT/IB/301).

Where a translation of the international application must be furnished to an elected Office, that translation must contain a translation of any annexes to the international preliminary examination report. It is the applicant's responsibility to prepare and furnish such translation directly to each elected Office concerned.

For further details on the applicable time limits and requirements of the elected Offices, see Volume II of the PCT Applicant's Guide.

The applicant's attention is drawn to Article 33(5), which provides that the criteria of novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability described in Article 33(2) to (4) merely serve the purposes of international preliminary examination and that "any Contracting State may apply additional or different criteria for the purposes of deciding whether, in that State, the claimed inventions is patentable or not" (see also Article 27(5)). Such additional criteria may relate, for example, to exemptions from patentability, requirements for enabling disclosure, clarity and support for the claims.

Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1 Document

The following document (D) is referred to in this communication:

D1: US-A-2428979

a) The subject-matter of claims 1, 2, 5, 8, 9, 11 & 13-15 does not appear novel within the meaning of Article 33(2) PCT for the following reasons.

b) Document D1, which is considered to constitute the closest state of the art with respect to the application, discloses a method of preparation of a framework with a honeycomb structure having a plurality of compartments running between the faces of the structure, which is prepared by applying lines of adhesive in a staggered (intermediate joining lines) configuration to a stack of sheets of paper or plastic and then expanding the structure to form a honeycomb (see D1 col 1 lines 19-30). D1 goes on to disclose that facing sheets may be applied sequentially to the first and then the second face of the honeycomb network, thereby closing off the compartments of the honeycomb (see D1 col 3 lines 16-46). In light of this disclosure, the subject-matter of claims 1, 2, 5, 8, 9 & 14 does not appear to be novel.

c) Similarly, the correspondingly formed product of claims 11, 13 & 15 also do not appear to be novel in light of these same passages of D1 cited above (see also D1 Figs 9-11).

d) Claims 14 & 15 do not contain any technical features.

3 Inventive step

a) The subject-matter of claim 10 cannot be considered as inventive within the meaning of Article 33(3) PCT. Heat-welding or ultrasonic welding are well known as alternative methods of bonding to the adhesive bonding disclosed in D1, which one skilled in the art would consider applying without the exercise of inventive skill.

b) The subject-matter of claim 12 cannot be considered as inventive within the meaning of Article 33(3) PCT. The uses claimed here are well known applications of structures comprising honeycomb structures.

INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION REPORT - SEPARATE SHEET

International application No. PCT/IB 03/03212

c) The subject-matter of claims 3, 4, 6 & 7 do not appear to be inventive within the meaning of Article 33(3) PCT. There is apparently no technical problem being solved by the additional features described in these claims.
